

David Hendrick
Project Administrator, IDEA

Hussein Amery, CEO and Managing Director of IDEA, is pleased to announce that David Hendrick has joined IDEA as a Project Administrator.

David studied Chemistry and Biochemistry at Victoria College of the University of Toronto and followed that with studies in Business Computer Programming at Algonquin College.

David honed his solid multi-media skills with the Department of National Defense as well as with Energy, Mines and Resources where he worked in both of their respective film vaults where he was responsible for maximizing their resources by creating and maintaining massive digital databases of stock shots allowing for efficient and cost effective film making.

Before moving onto global concerns he worked for five years in the national development department of the Council of Canadians, one of Canada's largest NGO's, for which he aided and guided fund raising as well as strategic policy.

Building on his experiences as a son of Maurice Allen Hendrick, a renowned Canadian Diplomat, he continues to dedicate himself to global travel and international development. His travel and work abroad resume includes the United States, Mexico, Europe, Australia, Russia, Georgia, Peru, Columbia, Bolivia, Ecuador, Brazil, Argentina, Chile, Egypt and most recently India.

In his capacity as Project Administrator, David supports SIAST in projects and activities in the National Capital.

Born in Belgrade, Serbia and having made his home on four continents David currently resides in Ottawa.
